

Furniture a focal point for home

AMY Sierp-Worth of Stirling has put together a new exhibition Abode at the Fisher Jeffries foyer space. It features ceramics, furniture and paintings, all with a focus on the home, beauty and function.

Susan Frost, who has her ceramics studio at the Jam Factory, has vessels, beakers and nests of dishes in subtle colors.

Daniel Guest, also working at the Jam Factory, is showing stools, side tables, and shelving 'with a twist' in Tasmanian, oak, jarrah, silver ash, blackwood and maple.

Complementing their work are still life paintings by Timothy John, of beakers, bowls, cups and vases – again all relating the to the 'abode' theme.

The exhibition was opened by Sandy Rix, director of the Riverbank Project and Australian Urban Planner of the Year.

It continues Mondays to Fridays until October 28.

Fishers Jeffries foyer space is located at level 1, 19 Gouger Street Adelaide.

Sandy Rix, left, with artists Timothy John, Susan Frost, and Daniel Guest.

Illustrator Isingyah Temple of Heathfield, left, with Oli Sierp and Amy Sierp-Worth.